ABSTRACT

Educational and recreational opportunities for adults within Metro Toronto and other areas of Ontario are covered, along with educational institutions, organizations, and locations. Summer 1971 course listings, arranged alphabetically by subjects, include name and number, institutional address, days and time, starting dates, hours per week, fees and other costs, and miscellaneous program information. Other sections are devoted to vacation programs and activities, correspondence courses, vocational and trade subjects at proprietary schools, educational television courses and programs, counseling services (including public libraries and neighborhood information posts), and information on continuing education and the Government of Canada manpower program. The MetroDOC Summer '71 Continuing Education Directory is compiled to inform the citizens of Metropolitan Toronto about educational and recreational opportunities available within Metro and other areas of the province during summer vacation time. This listing of courses and activities is produced from a computerized data bank developed in co-operation with the Education Data Processing Branch of the Ontario Department of Education.

New to this issue of the Directory: A special section on Summer Vacation Programs and Activities, a list of Correspondence subjects and Vocational subjects offered privately, and Educational T.V. and Radio Courses and Programs. The counselling section has been expanded to include Neighbourhood Information posts and Public Libraries. Comments and suggestions about these new sections and the Directory would be welcomed.

Copies of the Directory can be consulted in all Metro public libraries and counselling centres. The Executive Committee of MetroDOC expresses its appreciation to all those organizations who have contributed their time and resources so generously to this enterprise.

CORRESPONDENCE COURSES

CORRESPONDENCE SUBJECTS - A NEW SECTION

In addition to the courses for adults offered on a part-time basis by institutions and organizations throughout Metropolitan Toronto, there are many educational opportunities available through correspondence courses from both public and private agencies. This section was prepared from publications issued by the Ontario Department of Education and include only those agencies located within Metropolitan Toronto — for information about actual courses, consult the relevant agencies.

Vocational training courses may also be available other than by correspondence through private agencies — see Section 5 - VOCATIONAL AND TRADE SUBJECTS offered by Private Trade Schools.

Note: Contact schools for further information.

ent of Education Correspondence Courses

The Ontario Department of Education through its Correspondence Courses program provides an opportunity for school-age students to gain education from Grade 1 to Grade 13 when deprived of regular school attendance, and for adults to upgrade their education from Grade 7 to Grade 13.

The Correspondence Courses Branch endeavours to make this free opportunity attractive and worthwhile by employing outstanding teachers in the province to write lessons, by revising courses whenever curriculm changes or needs of students indicate the necessity, and by having experienced teachers read the student assignments and give helpful comments, explanations and encouragement.

Elementary School Correspondence Courses

The Department of Education provides free correspondence courses in English and Mathematics at the senior elementary school level for persons sixteen years of age and over. The courses are designated as English E80 and Mathematics M80.

Any person living in Ontario, sixteen years of age and over, who is not attending a regular day school or private school, may be enrolled in these courses. Any person normally resident in Ontario but living temporarily outside Ontario may be enrolled. This includes Ontario persons who are members of the .Canadian Armed Services. Any member of the Canadian Armed Services, no matter what his home province, may be enrolled when on duty outside Canada.

There is no fee for these courses. Lessons are supplied and corrected free of charge. Answer paper is provided free to all students and stamped envelopes for mailing lessons are provided for students living in Canada. Textbooks are lent free of charge. Students must return the books in good condition when they either complete or discontinue the courses for which the books have been lent.

A student may begin either English E80 or Mathematics M80 at any time of the year. When he completes satisfactorily the lessons in either subject, he will be given a certificate and he may proceed to secondary school level courses in the subject.

Secondary School Correspondence Courses

Department of Education correspondence courses provide a way other than school attendance for persons to continue their education. Students enrol for many reasons — to earn admission to an institution of higher learning or course of training, to gain promotion where they are employed, to qualify for secondary school certificates, or to study for personal satisfaction and enjoyment.

Correspondence courses offer some advantages over other methods of study. Adult students may begin a subject at any time of the year and, as long as they submit satisfactory work, they may proceed at their own rate. They may suspend studies for a period in which they are unable to work at lesson assignments and resume studies, as soon as they can, from the point at which they discontinued. They can complete a correspondence subject and obtain standing in the subject at any time of the year. Correspondence courses provide a means for continued study for adults who cannot attend evening classes because they work night shifts or have responsibilities which keep them at home.

Conditions for Enrolment

i) Any resident of the Province of Ontario may be enrolled if he cannot attend a secondary day school or private school. A student is not eligible for enrolment during the summer vacation that follows attendance at school unless he was registered in the final year for completing his secondary school program and does not intend to return to school in September.

Students should remain at school as long as possible; they should not let the availability of correspondence courses influence them to leave. The correspondence course in any subject is comparable in scope and difficulty to a course in the same subject taken in school, and is likely to require one or more hours study a day for a minimum of five or six months.

A student registered in an Adult Retraining Program or Academic Upgrading Program at a College of Applied Arts and Technology or other institution is not eligible for enrolment.

ii) Any person normally resident in Ontario but living temporarily outside Ontario may be enrolled. This includes Ontario persons who are members of the Canadian Armed Services.

iii) Any member of the Canadian Armed Services, no matter what his home province, may be enrolled when on duty outside Canada. If Ontario is not his home province and he does not reside in Ontario on his return to Canada, his enrolment may be continued only until he completes the courses he was given while he was stationed abroad.

SECTION FIVE

VOCATIONAL and TRADE SUBJECTS offered by PRIVATE TRADE SCHOOLS

In addition to the vocational courses offered by public institutions - community colleges and boards of education listed in Section I of this Directory - there are many privately owned schools offering such courses. These schools may be found in the Yellow Pages of the telephone book and are often advertised in the newspapers. Some of these schools located in Metro Toronto which are required to register with the Applied Arts and Technology Branch of the Ontario Department of Education under the Trade Schools Registration Act are listed in this section.

Registered schools are required to make application for re-registration annually. Supervision of the operation of registered schools includes the approval of all advertising copy, teacher qualifications, graduation requirements, and fees charged for the courses.

Annual approval is required of accommodation, equipment, lighting and heating facilities. Further, in collaboration with the local fire, health and safety department for the area in which the school is located, approval is required of the accommodation with respect to sanitation, freedom from fire hazard, and safety from accident wherever power machines are installed.

Some Vocational Training Courses may be available by correspondence — see Section 4 CORRESPONDENCE COURSES.

Note: Contact schools for further information.

COUNSELLING SERVICES

Many community service agencies in Metro Toronto give information and a with educational and training problems in addition to referral for othe needs. Some counselling and assessment services are also available com and may be found in the Yellow Page Telephone Directory. Educational a tional counselling may also be available from universities, community c boards of education, and the staffs of secondary schools.

INFORMATION SERVICES

A network of Neighbourhood Information Posts is operating throughout th area, some of which deal specifically with the needs of the various eth ties. They are listed by geographic area, i.e. East York, Etobicoke et together with the Public Libraries. Reference materials and other comm is available at these centres.

Manpower and Apprenticeship Programs

The purpose of this Program is to provide an adult with training in the skills he requires for a trade or occupation, or to improve his existing skills. This will help him to increase his employment opportunities or to earn better wages.

The Government of Canada pays the full cost of such training for eligible adults who are referred to training by manpower counsellors at Canada Manpower Centres. It also pays the full cost of the school training of apprentices in provincial apprenticeship programs. To enable trainees to maintain themselves and their families while they learn, the Government of Canada also provides training allowances to those who are eligible.

Conditions of Eligibility for Training

To be eligible for training the law requires that a person must be an "adult". This means that:

- he must be at least one year older than the school-leaving age in the province where he lives, and
- he must not have attended school on a regular basis (that is, for more than twenty days) during the year immediately before his enrolment in training.

The law also states that the placement in training must be arranged by a Canada Manpower Counsellor.

In the case of apprentices, the condition of placement in training by a manpower counsellor and the requirement not to have attended school during the year before training do not apply. A person must be a legal permanent resident of Canada before he or she can benefit from the Canada Manpower Training Program.

Conditions of Eligibility for Training Allowances

To be eligible for allowances the law requires that a trainee:

- has been a member of the labour force for no less than three years previous to entering training, or
- has one or more persons mainly dependent upon him or her for support.

A person is considered to be a member of the labour force if he or she is employed, unemployed but seeking work, receiving rehabilitation or occupational training, or confined in a hospital or a corrective institution.

The amount of allowance is determined in relation to the trainee's family circumstances. The payment is based on class attendance. The allowance is also adjusted every year to keep pace with changes in average wages.

Persons who must take their training away from home may receive a supplementary "living-away-from-home allowance" if they need to maintain two residences, namely one for their relatives or dependents who stay behind and one for themselves in the place where they receive training.

Travel Assistance

Persons who must take their training away from home may also receive travel assistance. This is usually in the form of one return trip. However, if an extended holiday falls in the training period then another return trip for the holiday may be added.

Types of Training

Normally the training must provide skills required for a trade or occupation, or it must increase such skills. Persons who do not meet the entrance requirements for skill training may first be provided with educational upgrading.

The duration of a training course is limited to a maximum of 52 weeks, but a person may take more than one course, for instance, first an educational upgrading course and then a skill course. Training leading to university credit is excluded from the Canada Manpower Training Program.

Placement in Training

The need for training is normally established when a person seeking work and a Canada Manpower Counsellor together try to determine what kind of work that person should look for. When it becomes clear that he or she does not have any skills that are in demand, the manpower counsellor may arrange enrolment in a training course.

Normally arrangements are made with provincial departments of education to provide the training. Both the provincial education departments and the Department of Manpower and Immigration make every effort to have the right kind of training available when it is needed. However, they do not always succeed and sometimes there is a waiting period before a person can enter the training course most suitable to his needs and to the demands of the labour market.
